him, being read in the synagogues every sabbath.

22 Then it seemed good to [a] the apostles and the elders, with the whole church, to choose men out of their company, and send them to [b] Antioch with Paul and Barnabas; namely, Judas called Barsabbas, and [c] Silas, chief men among [d] the brethren: 23 and they wrote thus by them, [1] [a] The apostles and the elders, brethren, unto [d] the brethren who are of the Gentiles in [b] Antioch and [e] Syria and [f] Cilicia, [g] greeting: 24 Forasmuch as we have heard that [h] certain [2] who went out from us have [i] troubled you with words, subverting your souls; to whom we gave no commandment; 25 [k] it seemed good unto us, having come to one accord, to choose out men and send them unto you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul, 26 men that have [l] hazarded their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. 27 We have sent therefore [m] Judas and [n] Silas, who themselves also shall tell you the same things by word of mouth. 28 For [k] it seemed good to [o] the Holy Spirit, and to [p] us, to lay upon you no greater burden than these necessary things: 29 that ye abstain from [q] things sacrificed to idols, and from [r] blood, and from [r] things strangled, and from [q] fornication; from which if ye keep yourselves, it shall be well with you. Fare ye well.

30 So they, when they were dismissed, [s] came down to Antioch; and having gathered the multitude together, they delivered the epistle. 31 And when they had read it, they rejoiced for the [3] consolation. 32 And [m] Judas and [n] Silas, being themselves also [t] prophets, [4] exhorted [d] the brethren with many words, and confirmed them. 33 And after they had spent some time there, they were dismissed [u] in peace from the brethren unto those that had [v] sent them forth,[5] 35 But [x] Paul and Barnabas tarried in Antioch, teaching and [6] [y] preaching [z] the word of the Lord, with many others also.

36 And after some days Paul said unto Barnabas, Let us return now and visit the brethren in [a] every city wherein we proclaimed [z] the word of the Lord, and see how they fare. 37 And Barnabas was minded to take with them [b] John also, who was called Mark. 38 But Paul thought not good to take with them him who [c] withdrew from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the work. 39 And there arose a sharp contention, so that they parted asunder one from the other, and Barnabas took [d] Mark with him, and sailed away unto [e] Cyprus: 40 but Paul chose [f] Silas, and went forth, being [g] commended by the brethren to the grace of the Lord. 41 And he went through [h] Syria and [i] Cilicia, confirming the churches.

16 And he came also to [k] Derbe and to [k] Lystra: and behold, a certain disciple was there, named [l] Timothy, the son of [m] a Jewess that believed; but his father was a Greek. 2 The same was well reported of by [n] the brethren that were at [k] Lystra and [o] Iconium. 3 Him would Paul have to go forth with him; and he [p] took and circumcised him because of the Jews that were in those parts: for they all knew that his father was a Greek. 4 And as they went on their way through the cities, they delivered them [q] the decrees to keep which had been ordained of [r] the apostles and [s] elders that were at Jerusalem. 5 So [t] the churches were strengthened [7] in the faith, and [u] increased in number daily.

6 And they went through [8] the region of [v] Phrygia and [x] Galatia, having been forbidden of the Holy Spirit to speak the word in [y] Asia; 7 and when they were come over against [z] Mysia, they assayed to go into [a] Bithynia; and the [b] Spirit of Jesus suffered them not; 8 and passing by [z] Mysia, they came down to [c] Troas. 9 And [d] a vision appeared to Paul in the night: There was a man of [e] Macedonia standing, beseeching him, and saying, Come over into Macedonia, and help us. 10 And when he had seen [a] the vision, straightway [b] we sought to go forth into Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to [1 c] preach the gospel unto them.

11 Setting sail therefore from [d] Troas, we made [e] a straight course to Samothrace, and the day following to Neapolis; 12 and from thence to [f] Philippi, which is a city of [g] Macedonia, the first of the district, [h] a Roman colony: and we were in this city tarrying certain days. 13 And on [i] the sabbath day we went forth without the gate by a river side, [2] where we supposed there was a place of prayer; and we sat down, and spake unto the women that were come together. 14 And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of [k] Thyatira, [l] one that worshipped God, heard us: [m] whose heart the Lord opened to give heed unto the things which were spoken by Paul. 15 And when she was baptized, and [n] her household, she besought us, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house, and abide there. And she constrained us.

16 And it came to pass, as we were going to [o] the place of prayer, that a certain maid having [3 p] a spirit of divination met us, who brought her masters much gain by soothsaying. 17 The same following after Paul and us cried out, saying, These men are [4] servants of [q] the Most High God, who proclaim unto you [5] the way of salvation. 18 And this she did for many days. But Paul, being sore troubled, turned and said to the spirit, I charge thee [r] in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her. And it came out that very hour.

19 But when her masters saw that the hope of their [s] gain was [6] gone, they laid hold on [t] Paul and Silas, and [u] dragged them into the marketplace before the rulers, 20 and when they had brought them unto the [7] magistrates, they said, These men, being Jews, do exceedingly trouble our city, 21 and [v] set forth customs which it is not lawful for us to receive, or to observe, being [x] Romans. 22 And the multitude rose up together against them: and the [7] magistrates rent their garments off them, and commanded to [y] beat them with rods. 23 And when they had laid many stripes upon them, they cast them into prison, charging [z] the jailor to keep them safely: 24 who, having received such a charge, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in [a] the stocks. 25 But about midnight [b] Paul and Silas were praying and [c] singing hymns unto God, and the prisoners were listening to them; 26 and suddenly [d] there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison-house were shaken: and immediately [e] all the doors were opened; and every one's [f] bands were loosed. 27 And [z] the jailor, being roused out of sleep and seeing the prison doors open, drew his sword and was about [g] to kill himself, supposing that the prisoners had escaped. 28 But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself no harm: for we are all here. 29 And he called for lights and sprang in, and, trembling for fear, fell down before [b] Paul and Silas, 30 and brought them out and said, Sirs, [h] what must I do to be saved? 31 And they said, [i] Believe on the Lord Jesus, and thou shalt be saved, thou and [k] thy house. 32 And they spake the word of [8] the Lord unto him, with all that were in his house. 33 And he took them [l] the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes; and was baptized, he and all his, immediately. 34 And he brought them up into his house, and set [9] food before them, and rejoiced greatly, with [m] all his house, [10] having believed in God.

35 But when it was day, the [7] magistrates sent the [11] serjeants, saying, Let those men go. 36 And [z] the jailor reported the words to Paul, saying, The [7] magistrates have sent to let you go: now therefore come forth, and go [n] in peace. 37 But Paul said unto them, They have beaten us publicly, uncondemned,

[a] men that are Romans, and have cast us into prison; and do they now cast us out privily? nay verily; but let them come themselves and bring us out. 38 And the [1] serjeants reported these words unto the [2] magistrates: and [b] they feared when they heard that they were Romans; 39 and they came and besought them; and when they had brought them out, they asked them [c] to go away from the city. 40 And they went out of the prison, and entered into the house of [d] Lydia: and when they had seen [e] the brethren, they [3] comforted them, and departed.

17 Now when they had passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to [f] Thessalonica, where was a synagogue of the Jews: 2 and Paul, [g] as his custom was, went in unto them, and for three [4] [h] sabbath days reasoned with them from [i] the scriptures, 3 opening and alleging that [k] it behooved the Christ to suffer, and [l] to rise again from the dead; and that [m] this Jesus, whom, said he, I proclaim unto you, is the Christ. 4 [n] And some of them were persuaded, and consorted with [o] Paul and Silas; and of the [p] devout [q] Greeks a great multitude, and of the [r] chief women not a few. 5 But [s] the Jews, being moved with jealousy, took unto them certain vile fellows of the rabble, and gathering a crowd, set the city on an uproar; and assaulting the house of [t] Jason, they sought to bring them forth to the people. 6 And when they found them not, they [u] dragged Jason and certain brethren before the rulers of the city, crying, These that have turned [5] [v] the world upside down are come hither also; 7 whom Jason [x] hath received: and these all act [y] contrary to the decrees of Cæsar, saying that there is another king, one Jesus. 8 And they troubled the multitude and the rulers of the city, when they heard these things. 9 And when they had taken security from [z] Jason and the rest, they let them go.

10 And [a] the brethren immediately sent away [b] Paul and Silas by night unto [c] Berœa: who when they were come thither went into [d] the synagogue of the Jews. 11 Now these were more noble than those in [e] Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, examining the scriptures daily, whether these things were so. 12 [f] Many of them therefore believed; also of the Greek [g] women [h] of honorable estate, and of men, not a few. 13 But when the Jews of [e] Thessalonica had knowledge that the word of God was proclaimed of Paul at [c] Berœa also, they came thither likewise, stirring up and troubling the multitudes. 14 And then immediately [a] the brethren sent forth Paul to go as far as to the sea: and [i] Silas and [k] Timothy abode there still. 15 But [l] they that conducted Paul brought him as far as [m] Athens: and receiving a commandment unto [n] Silas and Timothy that they should [o] come to him with all speed, they departed.

16 Now while Paul waited for them at [m] Athens, his spirit was provoked within him as he beheld the city full of idols. 17 So he reasoned [p] in the synagogue with the Jews and the [q] devout persons, and in the marketplace every day with them that met him. 18 And certain also of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers encountered him. And some said, What would [r] this babbler say? others, He seemeth to be a setter forth of [6] strange [7] gods: because he [8] preached [s] Jesus and the resurrection. 19 And they [t] took hold of him, and brought him [9] unto [10] [u] the Areopagus, saying, May we know what [v] this new teaching is, which is spoken by thee? 20 For thou bringest certain strange things to our ears: we would know therefore what these things mean. 21 (Now all the Athenians and the strangers [x] sojourning there [11] spent their time in nothing else, but either to tell or to hear some new thing.) 22 And Paul stood in the midst of the Areopagus, and said,

Ye men of [y] Athens, in all things I perceive that ye are [12] very [z] religious. 23 For as I passed along, and observed the [a] objects of your worship, I found also an altar with this inscription, To AN UNKNOWN GOD. What therefore [b] ye worship in ignorance, this I set forth unto you. 24 [c] The God that made the world and all things therein, he, being [d] Lord of heaven and earth, [e] dwelleth not in [1] temples made with hands; 25 neither is he served by men's hands, [f] as though he needed anything, seeing he himself giveth to all life, and breath, and all things; 26 and [g] he made of one every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, having [h] determined their appointed seasons, and the bounds of their habitation; 27 that they should seek God, if haply they might feel after him and find him, [i] though he is not far from each one of us: 28 for [k] in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain even of your own poets [l] have said,

For we are also his offspring.

29 Being then the offspring of God, we [m] ought not to think that [2] the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and device of man. 30 [n] The times of ignorance therefore God [o] overlooked; but [p] now he [3] commandeth men that they should all everywhere repent: 31 inasmuch as he hath appointed [q] a day in which [r] he will judge [4] [s] the world in righteousness [5] by [6] the man whom he hath [t] ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he [u] hath raised him from the dead.

32 Now when they heard of [v] the resurrection of the dead, some mocked; but others said, We will hear thee concerning this yet again. 33 Thus Paul went out from among them. 34 But certain men clave unto him, and believed: among whom also was Dionysius the [x] Areopagite, and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

18 After these things he departed from [y] Athens, and came to [z] Corinth. 2 And he found a certain Jew named [a] Aquila, a man of [b] Pontus by race, lately come from [c] Italy, with his wife [a] Priscilla, because [d] Claudius had commanded all the Jews to depart from Rome: and he came unto them; 3 and because he was of the same trade, he abode with them, and [e] they wrought; for by their trade they were tentmakers. 4 And he reasoned [f] in the synagogue every [g] sabbath, and [7] persuaded [h] Jews and Greeks.

5 But when [i] Silas and Timothy [k] came down from [i] Macedonia, Paul was constrained by the word, [m] testifying to the Jews that [n] Jesus was the Christ. 6 And when they opposed themselves and [8] blasphemed, he [o] shook out his raiment and said unto them, [p] Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean: from henceforth I will go [q] unto the Gentiles. 7 And he departed thence, and went into the house of a certain man named Titus Justus, [r] one that worshipped God, whose house joined hard to the synagogue. 8 And [s] Crispus, [t] the ruler of the synagogue, [9] believed in the Lord [u] with all his house; and many of the [z] Corinthians hearing believed, and were baptized. 9 And the Lord said unto Paul in the night by [v] a vision, Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace: 10 for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to harm thee: for I have much people in this city. 11 And he dwelt there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.

12 But when Gallio was [x] proconsul of [y] Achaia, [z] the Jews with one accord rose up against Paul and brought him before [a] the judgment-seat, 13 saying, This man persuadeth men to worship God contrary to [b] the law. 14 But when Paul was about to [c] open his mouth, Gallio said unto the Jews, If indeed it were a matter of wrong or of wicked villany, O ye Jews, reason would that I should bear with you: 15 but if they are [d] questions about words and names and your own law, look to it yourselves; I am not minded to be a judge of these matters. 16 And he drove them from [a] the judgment-seat. 17 And they all laid hold on [b] Sosthenes, [c] the ruler of the synagogue, and beat him before [a] the judgment-seat. And Gallio cared for none of these things.

18 And Paul, having tarried after this yet many days, [d] took his leave of [e] the brethren, and sailed thence for [f] Syria, and with him [c] Priscilla and [g] Aquila: having [h] shorn his head in [i] Cenchreæ; [h] for he had a vow. 19 And they came to [k] Ephesus, and he left them there: but he himself entered into [l] the synagogue, and reasoned with the Jews. 20 And when they asked him to abide a longer time, he consented not; 21 but [d] taking his leave of them, and saying, I will return again unto you [m] if God will, he set sail from [k] Ephesus.

22 And when he had landed at [n] Cæsarea, he went up and saluted the church, and went down to [o] Antioch. 23 And having spent some time there, he departed, and went through the region of [p] Galatia, and [p] Phrygia, in order, establishing all the disciples.

24 Now a certain Jew named [q] Apollos, an [r] Alexandrian by race, [1] an eloquent man, came to [k] Ephesus; and he was mighty in the scriptures. 25 This man had been [2] instructed in [s] the way of the Lord; and being fervent in spirit, he spake and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus, knowing only [t] the baptism of John: 26 and he began to speak boldly in the synagogue. But when [g] Priscilla and [g] Aquila heard him, they took him unto them, and expounded unto him [u] the way of God more accurately. 27 And when he was minded to pass over into [v] Achaia, [x] the brethren encouraged him, and wrote to [y] the disciples to receive him: and when he was come, he [3] helped them much that had believed through grace; 28 for he powerfully confuted the Jews,[4] and that publicly, showing [z] by the scriptures that [a] Jesus was the Christ.

19 And it came to pass, that, while [q] Apollos was at [b] Corinth, Paul having passed through the [c] upper country came to [k] Ephesus, and found certain disciples: 2 and he said unto them, [d] Did ye receive the Holy Spirit when ye believed? And they said unto him, Nay, [e] we did not so much as hear whether [5] the Holy Spirit was given. 3 And he said, Into what then were ye baptized? And they said, [f] Into John's baptism. 4 And Paul said, [f] John baptized with the baptism of repentance, saying unto the people [g] that they should believe on him that should come after him, that is, on Jesus. 5 And when they heard this, they were [h] baptized into the name of the Lord Jesus. 6 And when Paul had [i] laid his hands upon them, the Holy Spirit came on them; and they [k] spake with tongues, and [l] prophesied. 7 And they were in all about twelve men.

8 And he entered into [m] the synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three months, reasoning and persuading as to [n] the things concerning the kingdom of God. 9 But when [o] some were hardened and disobedient, speaking evil of [p] the Way before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated [q] the disciples, reasoning daily in the school of Tyrannus. 10 And this continued for the space of [r] two years; so that all they that dwelt in [s] Asia heard [t] the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks. 11 And God wrought [u] special [6] miracles by the hands of Paul: 12 [v] insomuch that unto the sick were carried away from his body handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases departed from them, and [x] the evil spirits went out. 13 But certain also of the strolling Jews, [y] exorcists, took upon them to name over them that had the evil spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, I adjure you by Jesus whom Paul preacheth. 14 And there were seven sons of one Sceva, a Jew, a chief priest, who did this. 15 And the evil spirit answered and said unto them, Jesus I [7] know, and Paul I know; but who are ye? 16 And the man in whom the evil spirit was leaped on them, and mastered both of them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded. 17 And this became known to all, both Jews and Greeks, that dwelt at [a] Ephesus; and fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified. 18 Many also of them that had believed came, confessing, and declaring their deeds. 19 And not a few of them that practised magical arts brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all; and they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand [b] pieces of silver. 20 So mightily [c] grew [d] the word of the Lord and prevailed.

21 Now after these things were ended, Paul purposed in the spirit, [e] when he had passed through [fg] Macedonia and [h] Achaia, to [i] go to Jerusalem, saying, After I have been there, [k] I must also see Rome. 22 And having sent into [g] Macedonia two of [l] them that ministered unto him, [m] Timothy and [n] Erastus, he himself stayed in [o] Asia for a while.

23 And about that time there arose no small stir concerning [p] the Way. 24 For a certain man named Demetrius, a silversmith, who made silver shrines of [1] Diana, [q] brought no little business unto the craftsmen; 25 whom he gathered together, with the workmen of like occupation, and said, Sirs, ye know that by this business we have our wealth. 26 And ye see and hear, that not alone at [a] Ephesus, but almost throughout all [o] Asia, this Paul hath persuaded and turned away much people, saying that [r] they are no gods, that are made with hands: 27 and not only is there danger that this our trade come into disrepute; but also that the temple of the great goddess [1] Diana be made of no account, and that she should even be deposed from her magnificence whom all [o] Asia and [2s] the world worshippeth. 28 And when they heard this they were filled with wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is [1] Diana of the [a] Ephesians. 29 And the city was filled with the confusion: and they rushed with one accord into the theatre, having seized [t] Gaius and [u] Aristarchus, men of [g] Macedonia, Paul's [l] companions in travel. 30 And when Paul was minded to enter in unto the people, [v] the disciples suffered him not. 31 And certain also of the [3] Asiarchs, being his friends, sent unto him and besought him not to adventure himself into the theatre. 32 [x] Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was in confusion; and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together. 33 [4] And they brought Alexander out of the multitude, the Jews putting him forward. And Alexander [y] beckoned with the hand, and would have made a defence unto the people. 34 But when they perceived that he was a Jew, all with one voice about the space of two hours cried out, Great is [1] Diana of the Ephesians. 35 And when the townclerk had quieted the multitude, he saith, Ye men of [a] Ephesus, what man is there who knoweth not that the city of the Ephesians is temple-keeper of the great [1] Diana, and of the image which fell down from [5] Jupiter? 36 Seeing then that these things cannot be gainsaid, ye ought to be quiet, and to do nothing rash. 37 For ye have brought hither these men, who are neither [z] robbers of temples nor blasphemers of our goddess. 38 If therefore Demetrius, and the craftsmen that are with him, have a matter against any man, [6] the courts are open, and there are [a] proconsuls: let them accuse one another. 39 But if ye seek anything about other matters, it shall be settled in the regular assembly. 40 For indeed we are in danger to be [7] accused concerning this day's riot, there being no cause for it: and as touching it we shall not be able to give account of this concourse. 41 And when he had thus spoken, he dismissed the assembly.

20 And after the uproar ceased, Paul having sent for [b] the disciples and exhorted them, took leave of them, and departed [c] to go into [d] Macedonia. 2 And when he had gone through those parts, and had given them much exhortation, he came into Greece. 3 And when he had spent three months there, and [e] a plot was laid against him by the Jews as he was about to set sail for [a] Syria, he determined to return through [b] Macedonia. 4 And there accompanied him [1] as far as [c] Asia, Sopater of [d] Berœa, the son of Pyrrhus; and of the [e] Thessalonians, [f] Aristarchus and Secundus; and [g] Gaius of [h] Derbe, and [i] Timothy; and of [c] Asia, [k] Tychicus and [l] Trophimus. 5 But these [2] had gone before, and were waiting for [m] us at [n] Troas. 6 And [m] we sailed away from [o] Philippi after [p] the days of unleavened bread, and came unto them to [n] Troas in five days; where we tarried seven days.

7 And upon [q] the first day of the week, when [m] we were gathered together to [r] break bread, Paul discoursed with them, intending to depart on the morrow; and prolonged his speech until midnight. 8 And there were many [s] lights in the [t] upper chamber where we were gathered together. 9 And there sat in the window a certain young man named Eutychus, borne down with deep sleep; and as Paul discoursed yet longer, being borne down by his sleep he fell down from the third story, and was taken up dead. 10 And Paul went down, and [u] fell on him, and embracing him [v] said, Make ye no ado; for his life is in him. 11 And when he was gone up, and had [r] broken the bread, and eaten, and had talked with them a long while, even till break of day, so he departed. 12 And they brought the lad alive, and were not a little comforted.

13 But [m] we, going before to the ship, set sail for Assos, there intending to take in Paul: for so had he appointed, intending himself to go [3] by land. 14 And when he met us at Assos, we took him in, and came to Mitylene. 15 And sailing from thence, we came the following day over against Chios; and the next day we touched at Samos; and [4] the day after we came to [x] Miletus. 16 For Paul had determined to sail past [y] Ephesus, that he might not have to spend time in [c] Asia; for he was hastening, if it were possible for him, [z] to be at Jerusalem [a] the day of Pentecost.

17 And from Miletus he sent to [y] Ephesus, and called to him [b] the [5] elders of the church. 18 And when they were come to him, he said unto them,

Ye yourselves know, [c] from the first day that I set foot in Asia, after what manner I was with you all the time, 19 serving the Lord with all lowliness of mind, and with tears, and with trials which befell me by [d] the plots of the Jews; 20 how I [e] shrank not from declaring unto you anything that was profitable, and teaching you publicly, and from house to house, 21 [f] testifying both to Jews and to Greeks [g] repentance toward God, and [h] faith toward our Lord Jesus [6] Christ. 22 And now, behold, [i] I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there: 23 save that [k] the Holy Spirit [f] testifieth unto me in every city, saying that [l] bonds and afflictions abide me. 24 But [m] I hold not my life of any account as dear unto myself, [7] so that I may [n] accomplish my course, and [o] the ministry which I received from the Lord Jesus, to [f] testify the [8] gospel of [p] the grace of God. 25 And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I went about [q] preaching the kingdom, shall see my face no more. 26 Wherefore I testify unto you this day, that [r] I am pure from the blood of all men. 27 For I [s] shrank not from declaring unto you the whole [t] counsel of God. 28 Take heed unto yourselves, and to all [u] the flock, in which the Holy Spirit hath made you [9] bishops, to feed [v] the church of [10] the Lord which [z] he [11] purchased with his own blood. 29 I know that after my departing [y] grievous wolves shall enter in among you, not sparing [u] the flock; 30 and from among your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away [z] the disciples after them. 31 Wherefore watch ye, remembering that by the space of [a] three years I ceased not to admonish every one night and day [b] with tears. 32 And now I [c] commend you to [1] God, and to [d] the word of his grace, which is able to [e] build you up, and to give you [f] the inheritance among all them that are sanctified. 33 [g] I coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel. 34 Ye yourselves know that [h] these hands ministered unto my necessities, and to [i] them that were with me. 35 In all things I gave you an example, that so laboring ye ought to help the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, that he himself said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.

36 And when he had thus spoken, he [k] kneeled down and prayed with them all. 37 And they all wept sore, and [l] fell on Paul's neck and kissed him, 38 sorrowing most of all for [m] the word which he had spoken, that they should behold his face no more. And they [n] brought him on his way unto the ship.

21 And when it came to pass that [o] we were parted from them and had set sail, we came with [p] a straight course unto Cos, and the next day unto Rhodes, and from thence unto Patara: 2 and having found a ship crossing over unto [q] Phœnicia, we went aboard, and set sail. 3 And when we had come in sight of [r] Cyprus, leaving it on the left hand, we sailed unto [s] Syria, and landed at [t] Tyre; for [u] there the ship was to unlade her burden. 4 And having found [v] the disciples, we tarried there seven days: and these said to Paul [x] through the Spirit, that he should not set foot in Jerusalem. 5 And when it came to pass that we had accomplished the days, we departed and went on our journey; and they all, with wives and children, [y] brought us on our way till we were out of the city: and [k] kneeling down on the beach, we prayed, and bade each other farewell; 6 and we went on board the ship, but they returned [z] home again.

7 And when we had finished the voyage from [t] Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais; and we saluted [a] the brethren, and abode with them one day. 8 And on the morrow we departed, and came unto [b] Cæsarea: and entering into the house of [c] Philip the [d] evangelist, who was [c] one of the seven, we abode with him. 9 Now this man had four virgin daughters, who [e] prophesied. 10 And as we tarried there some days, there came down from Judæa a certain prophet, named [f] Agabus. 11 And coming to us, and [g] taking Paul's girdle, he bound his own feet and hands, and said, Thus [h] saith the Holy Spirit, So shall the Jews at Jerusalem [i] bind the man that owneth this girdle, and [k] shall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles. 12 And when we heard these things, both we and they of that place besought him [l] not to go up to Jerusalem. 13 Then Paul answered, What do ye, weeping and breaking my heart? for [m] I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for [n] the name of the Lord Jesus. 14 And when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, [o] The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after these days we [2] took up our baggage and [p] went up to Jerusalem. 16 And there went with us also certain of [q] the disciples from [b] Cæsarea, [3] bringing with them one Mnason of [r] Cyprus, an [s] early disciple, with whom we should lodge.

17 And when we were come to Jerusalem, [t] the brethren received us gladly. 18 And the day following Paul went in with us unto [u] James; and all [v] the elders were present. 19 And when he had saluted them, he [x] rehearsed one by one the things which God had wrought among the Gentiles through his [y] ministry. 20 And they, when they heard it, [z] glorified God; and they said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many [4] thousands there are among the Jews of them that have believed; and they are all [a] zealous for the law: 21 and they have been informed concerning thee, that thou [b] teachest all the Jews who are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, telling them [c] not to circumcise their children, neither to walk after [d] the customs. 22 What is it therefore? they will certainly hear that thou art come. 23 Do therefore this that we say to thee: We have four men that [a] have a vow on them; 24 these take, and [b] purify thyself with them, and be at charges for them, that they may [a] shave their heads: and all shall know that there is no truth in the things whereof they have been informed concerning thee; but that thou thyself also walkest orderly, keeping the law. 25 But as touching the Gentiles that have believed, we [1] wrote, [c] giving judgment that they should keep themselves from things sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from what is strangled, and from fornication. 26 Then Paul [2] took the men, and the next day [b] purifying himself with them [d] went into the temple, declaring the fulfilment of the days of purification, until the offering was offered for every one of them.

27 And when [e] the seven days were almost completed, [f] the Jews from [g] Asia, when they saw him in the temple, stirred up all the multitude and laid hands on him, 28 crying out, Men of Israel, help: [h] This is the man that teacheth all men everywhere against the people, and the law, and this place; and moreover he brought Greeks also into the temple, and hath [i] defiled this [h] holy place. 29 For they had before seen with him in the city [k] Trophimus the [l] Ephesian, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple. 30 And all the city was moved, and the people ran together; and they laid hold on Paul, and [m] dragged him out of the temple: and straightway the doors were shut. 31 And as they were seeking to kill him, tidings came up to the [3] chief captain of the [4] [n] band, that all Jerusalem was in confusion. 32 And forthwith he [e] took soldiers and centurions, and ran down upon them: and they, when they saw the [3] chief captain and the soldiers, left off beating Paul. 33 Then the [3] chief captain came near, and laid hold on him, and commanded him to be [p] bound with [q] two chains; and inquired who he was, and what he had done.

34 And [r] some shouted one thing, some another, among the crowd: and when he could not know the certainty for the uproar, he commanded him to be brought into [s] the castle. 35 And when he came upon [t] the stairs, so it was that he was borne of the soldiers for the violence of the crowd; 36 for the multitude of the people followed after, crying out, [u] Away with him.

37 And as Paul was about to be brought into [s] the castle, he saith unto the [3] chief captain, May I say something unto thee? And he said, Dost thou know Greek? 38 Art thou not then [v] the Egyptian, who before these days stirred up to sedition and led out [x] into the wilderness the four thousand men of the Assassins? 39 But Paul said, [y] I am a Jew, of Tarsus in [z] Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city: and I beseech thee, give me leave to speak unto the people. 40 And when he had given him leave, Paul, standing on [t] the stairs, [a] beckoned with the hand unto the people; and when there was made a great silence, he spake unto them in the [b] Hebrew language, saying,

22 [c] Brethren and fathers, hear ye the defence which I now make unto you.

2 And when they heard that he spake unto them in the [d] Hebrew language, they were the more quiet: and he saith,

3 [e] I am [f] a Jew, born in [y] Tarsus of [z] Cilicia, but brought up in this city, [g] at the feet of [h] Gamaliel, instructed according to the [i] strict manner of the law of our fathers, being zealous for God, even as [k] ye all are this day: 4 and [l] I persecuted this [m] Way unto the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women. 5 As also [n] the high priest doth bear me witness, and all [o] the estate of the elders: from whom also I [p] received letters unto [q] the brethren, and journeyed to [r] Damascus to bring them also that were there unto Jerusalem in bonds to be punished. 6 [s] And it came to pass, that, as I made my journey, and drew nigh unto Damascus, about noon, suddenly there shone from heaven a great light round about me. 7 And I fell unto the ground, and heard a voice saying unto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? 8 And I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said unto me, I am [a] Jesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest. 9 And they that were with me [b] beheld indeed the light, but they [c] heard not the voice of him that spake to me. 10 And I said, [d] What shall I do, Lord? And the Lord said unto me, Arise, and go into Damascus; and there it shall be told thee of all things which are appointed for thee to do. 11 And when I [e] could not see for the glory of that light, being led by the hand of them that were with me I came into Damascus. 12 And one [f] Ananias, a devout man according to the law, [g] well reported of by all the Jews that dwelt there, 13 came unto me, and standing by me said unto me, [h] Brother Saul, receive thy sight. And [i] in that very hour I [1] looked up on him. 14 And he said, [k] The God of our fathers hath [l] appointed thee to know his will, and to [m] see the [n] Righteous One, and to hear a voice from his mouth. 15 For thou shalt be [o] a witness for him unto all men of [p] what thou hast seen and heard. 16 And now why tarriest thou? [q] arise, and be baptized, and [r] wash away thy sins, [s] calling on his name. 17 And it came to pass, that, when I had [t] returned to Jerusalem, and while I prayed in the temple, I [u] fell into a trance, 18 and saw him saying unto me, [v] Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Jerusalem; because they will not receive of thee testimony concerning me. 19 And I said, Lord, they themselves know that [x] I imprisoned and [y] beat in every synagogue them that believed on thee: 20 and [z] when the blood of Stephen thy witness was shed, I also was standing by, and consenting, and keeping the garments of them that slew him. 21 And he said unto me, Depart: for I will send thee forth far hence [a] unto the Gentiles.

22 And they gave him audience unto this word; and they lifted up their voice, and said, [b] Away with such a fellow from the earth: for [c] it is not fit that he should live. 23 And as they cried out, and [d] threw off their garments, and [e] cast dust into the air, 24 the [2] chief captain commanded him to be brought into [f] the castle, bidding that he should be [g] examined by scourging, that he might know for what cause they so shouted against him. 25 And when they had tied him up [3] with the thongs, Paul said unto the centurion that stood by, Is it lawful for you to scourge [h] a man that is a Roman, and uncondemned? 26 And when the centurion heard it, he went to the [2] chief captain and told him, saying, What art thou about to do? for this man is a Roman. 27 And the [2] chief captain came and said unto him, Tell me, art thou a Roman? And he said, Yea. 28 And the [2] chief captain answered, With a great sum obtained I this citizenship. And Paul said, But I am a Roman born. 29 They then that were about to [i] examine him straightway departed from him: and the [2] chief captain also [k] was afraid when he knew that he was a Roman, and because he had [l] bound him.

30 But on the morrow, [m] desiring to know the certainty wherefore he was accused of the Jews, he [n] loosed him, and commanded the chief priests and all [o] the council to come together, and brought Paul down and set him before them.

23 And Paul, looking stedfastly on [p] the council, said, [q] Brethren, [r] I have lived before God in all good conscience until this day. 2 And the high priest [s] Ananias commanded them that stood by him [t] to smite him on the mouth. 3 Then said Paul unto him, God shall smite thee, [u] thou whited wall: and [v] sittest thou to judge me according to the law, and commandest me to be smitten contrary to the law? 4 And they that stood by said, Revilest thou God's high priest? 5 And Paul said, I knew not, brethren, that he was high priest: for it is written, [4] Thou shalt not speak evil of a ruler of thy people. 6 But when Paul perceived that the one part were [x] Sadducees and the other Pharisees, he cried out in [p] the council, [q] Brethren, [y] I am a Pharisee, a son of Pharisees: touching [z] the hope and resurrection of the dead I am called in question. 7 And when he had so said, there arose a dissension between the Pharisees and Sadducees; and the assembly was divided.

8 For [a] the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, neither angel, nor spirit; but the Pharisees confess both. 9 And there arose a great clamor: and some of [b] the scribes of the Pharisees' part stood up, and strove, saying, [c] We find no evil in this man: and [d] what if a spirit hath spoken to him, or an angel? 10 And when there arose a great dissension, the [1] chief captain, fearing lest Paul should be torn in pieces by them, commanded the soldiers to go down and take him by force from among them, and bring him into [e] the castle.

11 And [f] the night following the Lord stood by him, and said, [g] Be of good cheer: for [h] as thou hast [i] testified concerning me at Jerusalem, so must thou bear [i] witness also at Rome.

12 And when it was day, [k] the Jews banded together, and [l] bound themselves under a curse, saying that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul. 13 And they were more than forty that made this conspiracy. 14 And they came to the chief priests and the elders, and said, We have [l] bound ourselves under a great curse, to taste nothing until we have killed Paul. 15 Now therefore do ye with [m] the council signify to the [1] chief captain that he bring him down unto you, as though ye would judge of his case more exactly: and we, before he comes near, are ready to slay him. 16 But Paul's sister's son heard of their lying in wait, [2] and he came and entered into [e] the castle and told Paul. 17 And Paul called unto him one of the centurions, and said, Bring this young man unto the [1] chief captain; for he hath something to tell him. 18 So he took him, and brought him to the [1] chief captain, and saith, Paul [n] the prisoner called me unto him, and asked me to bring this young man unto thee, who hath something to say to thee. 19 And the [1] chief captain took him by the hand, and going aside asked him privately, What is it that thou hast to tell me? 20 And he said, [o] The Jews have agreed to ask thee to bring down Paul to-morrow unto [m] the council, as though thou would-est inquire somewhat more exactly concerning him. 21 Do not thou therefore yield unto them: for there [p] lie in wait for him of them more than forty men, who have [q] bound themselves under a curse, neither to eat nor to drink till they have slain him: and now are they ready, looking for the promise from thee. 22 So the [1] chief captain let the young man go, charging him, Tell no man that thou hast signified these things to me. 23 And he called unto him two of the centurions, and said, Make ready two hundred soldiers to go as far as [r] Cæsarea, and horsemen threescore and ten, and spearmen two hundred, at the third hour of the night: 24 and he bade them provide beasts, that they might set Paul thereon, and bring him safe unto [s] Felix the governor. 25 And he wrote a letter after this form:

26 Claudius Lysias unto the [t] most excellent governor Felix, [u] greeting. 27 This man was seized by the Jews, and [v] was about to be slain of them, when [v] I came upon them with the soldiers and rescued him, [x] having learned that he was a Roman. 28 And [y] desiring to know the cause wherefore they accused him, [3] I [z] brought him down unto their [m] council: 29 whom I found to be accused about [a] questions of their law, but to have [b] nothing laid to his charge worthy of death or of bonds. 30 And when it was [c] shown to me that there would be [d] a plot [4] against the man, I sent him to thee forthwith, charging [e] his accusers also to speak against him before thee.[5]

31 So the soldiers, as it was commanded them, took Paul and brought him by night to Antipatris. 32 But on the morrow they left [f] the horsemen to go with him, and returned to [g] the castle: 33 and they, when they came to [r] Cæsarea and delivered the letter to [s] the governor, presented Paul also before him. 34 And when he had read it, he asked of what [h] province he was; and when he understood that [i] he was of Cilicia, 35 I will hear thee fully, said he, when thine

[5] Many ancient authorities add Farewell.

[a] accusers also are come: and he commanded him to be [b] kept in Herod's [1] palace.

24 And after [c] five days the high priest [d] Ananias came down with certain elders, and with an orator, one Tertullus; and they informed [e] the governor against Paul. 2 And when he was called, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying,

Seeing that by thee we enjoy much peace, and that by thy providence evils are corrected for this nation, 3 we accept it in all ways and in all places, [f] most excellent Felix, with all thankfulness. 4 But, that I be not further tedious unto thee, I entreat thee to hear us of thy clemency a few words. 5 For we have found this man [g] a pestilent fellow, and a mover of insurrections among all the Jews throughout [2] the world, and a ringleader of the [h] sect of the Nazarenes: 6 who moreover assayed to [i] profane the temple: on whom also we laid hold: [3] 8 from whom thou wilt be able, by examining him thyself, to take knowledge of all these things whereof we accuse him. 9 And [k] the Jews also joined in the charge, affirming that these things were so.

10 And when [e] the governor had beckoned unto him to speak, Paul answered, Forasmuch as I know that thou hast been of many years a judge unto this nation, I cheerfully make my defence: 11 seeing that thou canst take knowledge that it is not more than [l] twelve days since I went up to worship at Jerusalem: 12 and [m] neither in the temple did they find me disputing with any man or [n] stirring up a crowd, nor in the synagogues, nor in the city. 13 [o] Neither can they prove to thee the things whereof they now accuse me. 14 But this I confess unto thee, that after [p] the Way which they call a [h] sect, so serve I [q] the God of our fathers, [r] believing all things which are according to the law, and which are written in the prophets; 15 having hope toward God, which [s] these also themselves [4] look for, that there shall be a resurrection both of the just and unjust. 16 [5] Herein [t] I also exercise myself to have a conscience void of offence toward God and men always. 17 Now [u] after some years I [v] came to bring alms to my nation, and offerings: 18 [6] amidst which they found me [x] purified in the temple, with no [y] crowd, nor yet with tumult: but there were certain [z] Jews from Asia — 19 who ought to have been here before thee, and to [a] make accusation, if they had aught against me. 20 Or else let these men themselves say what wrong-doing they found when I stood before [b] the council, 21 except it be for this one voice, that [c] I cried standing among them, Touching the resurrection of the dead I am called in question before you this day.

22 But Felix, having more exact knowledge concerning [d] the Way, deferred them, saying, When Lysias the [7] chief captain shall come down, I will determine your matter. 23 And he gave order to the centurion that he should be [e] kept in charge, and should [f] have indulgence; and not to forbid any of [g] his friends to minister unto him.

24 But after certain days, Felix came with Drusilla, [8] his wife, who was a Jewess, and sent for Paul, and heard him concerning [h] the faith in Christ Jesus. 25 And as he reasoned of [i] righteousness, and [k] self-control, and [l] the judgment to come, Felix was terrified, and answered, Go thy way for this time; and when I have a convenient season, I will call thee unto me. 26 He hoped withal that [m] money would be given him of Paul: wherefore also he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him. 27 But when two years were fulfilled, Felix was succeeded by Porcius [n] Festus; and [o] desiring to gain favor with the Jews, Felix left Paul [p] in bonds.

25 Festus therefore, [9] having come into [q] the province, after three days went up to Jerusalem from [r] Cæsarea. 2 And the chief priests and the principal men of the Jews [s] informed him against Paul; and they besought him, 3 asking a favor against him, that he would send for him to Jerusalem; [a] laying a plot to kill him on the way. 4 Howbeit Festus [b] answered, that Paul [c] was kept in charge at [d] Cæsarea, and that he himself was about to depart thither shortly. 5 Let them therefore, saith he, that are of power among you go down with me, and if there is anything amiss in the man, let them accuse him.

6 And when he had tarried among them not more than eight or ten days, he went down unto [d] Cæsarea; and on the morrow he sat on [e] the judgment-seat, and commanded Paul to be brought. 7 And when he was come, the Jews that had come down from Jerusalem stood round about him, bringing against him [f] many and grievous charges [g] which they could not prove; 8 while Paul said in his defence, [h] Neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Cæsar, have I sinned at all. 9 But Festus, [i] desiring to gain favor with the Jews, answered Paul and said, [k] Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me? 10 But Paul said, I am standing before Cæsar's [e] judgment-seat, where I ought to be judged: to the Jews have I done no wrong, as thou also very well knowest. 11 If then I am a wrongdoer, and have committed anything worthy of death, I refuse not to die; but if none of those things is true whereof these accuse me, no man can [1] give me up unto them. I [l] appeal unto Cæsar. 12 Then Festus, when he had conferred with [m] the council, answered, Thou hast appealed unto Cæsar: unto Cæsar shalt thou go.

13 Now when certain days were passed, Agrippa the king and Bernice arrived at [d] Cæsarea, [2] and saluted Festus. 14 And as they tarried there many days, Festus laid Paul's case before the king, saying, There is a certain man [n] left a prisoner by Felix; 15 about whom, when I was at Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the Jews [o] informed me, asking for sentence against him. 16 To whom I [p] answered, that it is not the custom of the Romans to [1] give up any man, before that [q] the accused have the accusers face to face, and have had opportunity to make his defence concerning the matter laid against him. 17 When therefore they were come together here, I made no delay, but on the next day sat on [e] the judgment-seat, and commanded the man to be brought. 18 Concerning whom, when the accusers stood up, they brought no charge of such evil things as I supposed; 19 but had certain [r] questions against him of their own [3] [s] religion, and of one Jesus, who was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive. 20 And I, [t] being perplexed how to inquire concerning these things, asked whether he would go to Jerusalem and there be judged of these matters. 21 But when Paul had [u] appealed to be kept for the decision of [4] the emperor, I commanded him to be kept till I should send him to Cæsar. 22 And [v] Agrippa said unto Festus, I also [5] could wish to hear the man myself. To-morrow, saith he, thou shalt hear him.

23 So on the morrow, when [x] Agrippa was come, and [x] Bernice, with great pomp, and they were entered into the place of hearing with the [6] chief captains and the principal men of the city, at the command of Festus Paul was brought in. 24 And Festus saith, King Agrippa, and all men who are here present with us, ye behold this man, about whom [y] all the multitude of the Jews made suit to me, both at Jerusalem and here, crying that [z] he ought not to live any longer. 25 But I found that he had committed [a] nothing worthy of death: and as he himself [u] appealed to [4] the emperor I determined to send him. 26 Of whom I have no certain thing to write unto my lord. Wherefore I have brought him forth before you, and specially before thee, king Agrippa, that, after examination had, I may have somewhat to write. 27 For it seemeth to me unreasonable, in sending a prisoner, not withal to signify the charges against him.

26 And [v] Agrippa said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thyself. Then Paul stretched forth his hand, and made his defence:

2 I think myself happy, king Agrippa, that I am to make my defence before thee this day touching all the things whereof I am accused by the Jews: 3 [1]especially because thou art expert in all [a]customs and questions which are among the Jews: wherefore I beseech thee to hear me patiently. 4 [b]My manner of life then from my youth up, which was from the beginning among mine own nation and at Jerusalem, know all the Jews; 5 having knowledge of me from the first, if they be willing to testify, that [c]after the straitest [d]sect of our religion I lived a [e]Pharisee. 6 And now I stand here to be judged [f]for the hope of [g]the promise made of God unto our fathers; 7 unto which promise [h]our twelve tribes, earnestly serving God night and day, hope to attain. And concerning this [f]hope I am [i]accused by the Jews, O king! 8 Why is it judged incredible with you, [k]if God doth raise the dead? 9 [l]I verily thought with myself that I ought to do many things contrary to [m]the name of Jesus of Nazareth. 10 And this I also [n]did in Jerusalem: and I both shut up many of the saints in prisons, having [o]received authority from the chief priests, and when they were put to death I [p]gave my vote against them. 11 And [q]punishing them oftentimes in all the synagogues, I strove to make them blaspheme; and being [r]exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them [s]even unto foreign cities. 12 [2]Whereupon [t]as I journeyed to Damascus with the authority and commission of the chief priests, 13 at midday, O king, I saw on the way a light from heaven, above the brightness of the sun, shining round about me and them that journeyed with me. 14 And when we were [u]all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice saying unto me in the [v]Hebrew language, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? it is hard for thee to kick against [3]the goad. 15 And I said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest. 16 But arise, and [x]stand upon thy feet: for to this end have I appeared unto thee, to [y]appoint thee a [z]minister and [a]a witness both of the things [4]wherein thou hast seen me, and of the things wherein I will appear unto thee; 17 [b]delivering thee [c]from the people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom I send thee, 18 to [d]open their eyes, [e]that they may turn from [e]darkness to light and from the power of [f]Satan unto God, that they may receive [g]remission of sins and an [h]inheritance among them that are sanctified by [i]faith in me. 19 Wherefore, O king Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision: 20 but declared both [k]to them of Damascus first, and [l]at Jerusalem, and throughout all the country of Judæa, and also [m]to the Gentiles, that they should [n]repent and turn to God, doing works [o]worthy of [6]repentance. 21 For this cause the Jews [p]seized me in the temple, and assayed [q]to kill me. 22 Having therefore obtained the help that is from God, I stand unto this day [r]testifying both to small and great, saying nothing but what [s]the prophets and Moses did say should come; 23 [7]how [t]that the Christ [8]must suffer, and [7]how that [u]he first by the resurrection of the dead should proclaim [v]light both to the people and to the Gentiles.

24 And as he thus made his defence, Festus saith with a loud voice, Paul, thou art mad; thy much [x]learning [9]is turning thee mad. 25 But Paul saith, I am not mad, [y]most excellent Festus; but speak forth words of truth and soberness. 26 For the king [z]knoweth of these things, unto whom also I speak freely: for I am persuaded that none of these things is hidden from him; for this hath not been done in a corner. 27 King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest. 28 And Agrippa said unto Paul, [10]With but little persuasion thou wouldest fain make me a [a]Christian. 29 And Paul said, I would to God, that [11]whether with little or with much, not thou only, but also all that hear me this day, might become such as I am, except these [b]bonds.

30 And [a]the king rose up, and the governor, and Bernice, and they that sat with them: 31 and when they had withdrawn, they spake one to another, saying, [b]This man doeth nothing worthy of death or of bonds. 32 And Agrippa said unto Festus, This man might have been [c]set at liberty, if he had not [d]appealed unto Cæsar.

27 And when it was determined that [e]we [f]should sail for [g]Italy, they delivered Paul and certain other prisoners to a centurion named Julius, of the Augustan [1][h]band. 2 And embarking in a ship of Adramyttium, which was about to sail unto the places on the coast of [i]Asia, we put to sea, [k]Aristarchus, a [l]Macedonian of [m]Thessalonica, being with us. 3 And the next day we touched at [n]Sidon: and Julius [o]treated Paul kindly, and [p]gave him leave to go unto his friends and [2]refresh himself. 4 And putting to sea from thence, we sailed under the lee of [q]Cyprus, because [r]the winds were contrary. 5 And when we had sailed across the sea which is off [s]Cilicia and [t]Pamphylia, we came to Myra, a city of Lycia. 6 And there the centurion found a [u]ship of Alexandria sailing for [g]Italy; and he put us therein. 7 And when we had sailed slowly many days, and were come with difficulty over against Cnidus, [v]the wind not [3]further suffering us, we sailed under the lee of [x]Crete, over against Salmone; 8 and with difficulty [y]coasting along it we came unto a certain place called Fair Havens; nigh whereunto was the city of Lasea.

9 And when much time was spent, and the voyage was now dangerous, because [z]the Fast was now already gone by, Paul admonished them, 10 and said unto them, Sirs, I perceive that the voyage will be with [a]injury and much loss, not only of the lading and the ship, but also of our lives. 11 But the centurion gave more heed to the [b]master and to the owner of the ship, than to those things which were spoken by Paul. 12 And because the haven was not commodious to winter in, the more part advised to put to sea from thence, if by any means they could reach Phœnix, and winter there; which is a haven of [x]Crete, looking [4]north-east and south-east. 13 And when the south wind blew softly, supposing that they had obtained their purpose, they weighed anchor and [c]sailed along [x]Crete, close in shore. 14 But after no long time there [d]beat down from it a tempestuous wind, which is called Euraquilo: 15 and when the ship was caught, and could not face the wind, we gave way to it, and were driven. 16 And running under the lee of a small island called [5]Cauda, we were able, with difficulty, to secure the boat: 17 and when they had hoisted it up, they used helps, under-girding the ship; and, fearing lest they should [e]be cast upon the Syrtis, they lowered the gear, and so were driven. 18 And as we labored exceedingly with the storm, the next day they began to [f]throw the freight overboard; 19 and the third day they cast out with their own hands the [6]tackling of the ship. 20 And when neither sun nor stars shone upon us for many days, and no small tempest lay on us, all hope that we should be saved was now taken away. 21 And when they had been long without food, then Paul stood forth in the midst of them, and said, [g]Sirs, ye should have hearkened unto me, and not have set sail from [x]Crete, and have gotten this [g]injury and loss. 22 And now I exhort you to be [h]of good cheer; for there shall be no loss of life among you, but only of the ship. 23 For [i]there stood by me this night [k]an angel of the God whose I am, [l]whom also I serve, 24 saying, Fear not, Paul; [m]thou must stand before Cæsar: and lo, God hath granted thee [n]all them that sail with thee. 25 Wherefore, sirs, be [h]of good cheer: for I believe God, that it shall be even so as it hath been spoken unto me. 26 But we must [e]be cast upon a certain [o]island.

27 But when the fourteenth night was come, as we were driven to and fro in the sea of Adria, about midnight the sailors surmised that they were drawing near to some country: 28 and they sounded, and found twenty fathoms; and after a little space, they sounded again, and found fifteen fathoms. 29 And fearing lest haply we should [a] be cast ashore on rocky ground, they let go four anchors from the stern, and [1] wished for the day. 30 And as the sailors were seeking to flee out of the ship, and had lowered [b] the boat into the sea, under color as though they would lay out anchors from the foreship, 31 Paul said to the centurion and to the soldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be saved. 32 Then the soldiers cut away the [c] ropes of the boat, and let her fall off. 33 And while the day was coming on, Paul besought them all to take some food, saying, This day is the fourteenth day that ye wait and continue fasting, having taken nothing. 34 Wherefore I beseech you to take some food: for this is for your safety: for [d] there shall not a hair perish from the head of any of you. 35 And when he had said this, and had taken bread, he [e] gave thanks to God in the presence of all; and he brake it, and began to eat. 36 Then were they all [f] of good cheer, and themselves also took food. 37 And we were in all in the ship two hundred threescore and sixteen [g] souls. 38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, [h] throwing out the wheat into the sea. 39 And when it was day, [i] they knew not the land: but they perceived a certain bay with a beach, and they took counsel whether they could [2] drive the ship upon it. 40 And casting off [k] the anchors, they left them in the sea, at the same time loosing the bands of the rudders; and hoisting up the foresail to the wind, they made for the beach. 41 But lighting upon a place where two seas met, they ran the vessel aground; and the foreship struck and remained unmoveable, but the stern began to break up by the violence of the waves. 42 And the soldiers' counsel was to [l] kill the prisoners, lest any of them should swim out, and escape. 43 But the centurion, [m] desiring to save Paul, stayed them from their purpose; and commanded that they who could swim should cast themselves overboard, and get first to the land; 44 and the rest, some on planks, and some on other things from the ship And so it came to pass, that [n] they all escaped safe to the land.

28 And when [o] we were escaped, [p] then we knew that [q] the island was called [3] Melita. 2 And [r] the barbarians showed us no common kindness: for they kindled a fire, and [s] received us all, because of the present rain, and because of the cold. 3 But when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks and laid them on the fire, a viper came out [4] by reason of the heat, and fastened on his hand. 4 And when [r] the barbarians saw the venomous creature hanging from his hand, they said one to another, [t] No doubt this man is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped from the sea, yet [u] Justice hath not suffered to live. 5 Howbeit [v] he shook off the creature into the fire, and took no harm. 6 But they expected that he would have swollen, or fallen down dead suddenly: but when they were long in expectation and beheld nothing amiss come to him, they changed their minds, and [z] said that he was a god.

7 Now in the neighborhood of that place were lands belonging to the chief man of the island, named Publius; who received us, and entertained us three days courteously. 8 And it was so, that the father of Publius lay sick of fever and dysentery: unto whom Paul entered in, and [y] prayed, and [z] laying his hands on him healed him. 9 And when this was done, the rest also that had diseases in the island came, and were cured: 10 who also honored us with many honors; and when we sailed, they put on board such things as we needed.

11 And after three months we set sail in [a] a ship of Alexandria which had wintered in the island, whose sign was [5] The Twin Brothers. 12 And touching at Syracuse, we tarried there three days. 13 And from thence we [6] made a circuit, and arrived at Rhegium: and after one day a south wind sprang up, and on the second day we came to Puteoli; 14 where we found [a] brethren, and were entreated to tarry with them seven days: and so we came to Rome. 15 And from thence the [a] brethren, when they heard of us, came to meet us as far as The Market of Appius and The Three Taverns; whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and took courage.

16 And when we entered into Rome, [1] Paul was [b] suffered to abide by himself with the soldier that guarded him.

17 And it came to pass, that after three days he called together [2] those that were [c] the chief of the Jews: and when they were come together, he said unto them, I, [d] brethren, [e] though I had done nothing against the people, or [f] the customs of our fathers, yet was delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans: 18 who, when they had examined me, [g] desired to set me at liberty, because there was [h] no cause of death in me. 19 But when the Jews spake against it, I was constrained to [i] appeal unto Cæsar; not that I had aught whereof to accuse my nation. 20 For this cause therefore did I [3] entreat you to see and to speak with me: for [k] because of the hope of Israel I am bound with [l] this chain. 21 And they said unto him, We neither received letters from Judæa concerning thee, nor did any of [d] the brethren come hither and report or speak any harm of thee. 22 But we desire to hear of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this [m] sect, it is known to us that everywhere [n] it is spoken against.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, they came to him into [o] his lodging in great number; to whom he expounded the matter, [p] testifying the kingdom of God, and persuading them concerning Jesus, both [q] from the law of Moses and from the prophets, from morning till evening. 24 And [r] some believed the things which were spoken, and some disbelieved. 25 And when they agreed not among themselves, they departed after that Paul had spoken one word, Well spake the Holy Spirit through Isaiah the prophet unto your fathers, 26 saying,

> [4] Go thou unto this people, and say,
> [s] By hearing ye shall hear, and shall in no wise understand;
> And seeing ye shall see, and shall in no wise perceive:
> 27 For this people's heart is waxed gross,
> And their ears are dull of hearing,
> And their eyes they have closed;
> Lest haply they should perceive with their eyes,
> And hear with their ears,
> And understand with their heart,
> And should turn again,
> And I should heal them.

28 Be it known therefore unto you, that [t] this salvation of God is sent [u] unto the Gentiles: they will also hear.[5]

30 And he abode two whole years in his own hired dwelling, and received all that went in unto him, 31 [v] preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ [x] with all boldness, none forbidding him.
